massage oils information sheet

The Nutri-Pharm massage oil range caters to a broad spectrum of massage requirements. To help you determine the products which best suit your needs, a summary appears with each profile.

The coefficient of friction listed for each product refers to the resistance felt when applying the product as compared to using almond oil (i.e. products less than 100% are "easier" to apply than almond oil).

Liquid Luxury. Supreme represents the richest and smoothest of massage oils. With 22% jojoba oil to intensely nourish the skin, Supreme is also plentiful in natural anti-oxidants such as rosehip oil and vitamin E. Enriched with chamomile for skin health, Supreme is something special. May be heated slightly for a sublime massage experience!

Packaging Notes

1 litre products are supplied in brushed aluminium bottles fitted with a suitable pour lip, plastic insert and wadded high density plastic lid. The lid is fitted with a tamper evident seal. To open, pull away the tamper evident ring from the lid. It may be necessary to use a pair of pliers in this process. Carefully remove the insert which is tightly positioned. It is recommended to re-position the insert after each use to ensure best storage conditions for the product.

20 litre packs are supplied in a round metal drum with a tap supplied for each drum purchased. When attaching a tap to a drum upon delivery, place the drum on its side with the tap opening at the highest point. This minimises the chance of losing any oil while threading the tap.

20 litre drums weigh approximately 22kg when full. Care and proper lifting technique is recommended for handling heavy weights.

Product Notes

Viscosity of the massage oil products may vary with temperature. Oils may become thicker in cooler conditions. In very cold conditions jojoba oil (present in Supreme) may solidify, but rapidly re-dissolves when warmed to room temperature.

Like other oil based products, Nutri-Pharm's massage oils are not recommended as additives to spa baths. If heating the massage oils is required, only specifically designed massage oil warmers are recommended. Please note that the heated massage oil may become less viscous (i.e. runnier) than the unheated product.

Nutri-Pharm massage oil products are for external use only.
